

FLIES ATLANTIC ALONE IN DILAPIDATED PLANE

QUEEN MARIE OF RUMANIA DIED TODAY

Death Ends Illness of Beautiful Dowager Ruler

Bucharest, July 18.—(AP)—Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania, who helped shape the destiny of her country for a generation, died today in her sixty-third year.

The Queen Mother, famed for her beauty, died at her palace at Sinaia, the royal summer residence, at 6:25 P. M., (10:25 A. M., C.S.T.). Prime Minister Miron Cristea, who also is patriarch of the Rumanian Orthodox church, celebrated mass in the palace immediately after her passing. Previously he had administered extreme unction as she neared.

In Bucharest all public buildings immediately displayed flags at half staff.

King Carol, her son, and Crown Prince Mihai and Princess Elizabeth of Greece were at the Queen's bedside. Her last illness found her in the same bed in which her husband, King Ferdinand died in 1927.

Ill for Nearly Year

The Queen had been dangerously ill for most of the past year. However, only Saturday she had returned to Rumania from Dresden after a month in a sanatorium and had been welcomed home ceremoniously.

There was a serious relapse yesterday. Physicians disclosed there had been a hemorrhage on the return from Germany. When another occurred today they announced she was "in a very dangerous condition."

All bells in churches and monasteries throughout Rumania tolled news of the death to the nation.

It was announced that Marie had been buried beside her husband in the Curcia de Argesi church, where lies the bodies of all Rumania's former kings.

Three Rumanian court doctors and a specialist who had accompanied the Queen from Dresden were with her when she died.

The American trip of Queen Marie of Rumania in 1926 was one of the events of "the prosperity era."

With the cannon on Governor's Island booming a royal salute Marie and her party arrived at New York on October 18.

She was taken off the Leviathan on the tug Macon by a committee headed by Governor Whalen and Mrs. Vincent Astor and brought to the foot of Broadway for one of the greatest of the year's greetings.

Her son, Prince Nicholas, and her daughter, Princess Ileana (who has since married the Archduke Antio of Austria), were with her. Queen Marie was then approaching her 51st birthday (she celebrated it on a train crossing the American continent) but her beauty was still fresh enough to fascinate New York.

Dedicated Museum

She came to America at the plea of Samuel Hill, picturesque railroad man, son-in-law of James J. Hill. "The Empire Builder." He had been in Rumania during the war. When he asked her to come to the state of Washington to dedicate "Maryhill," his half-completed "museum of the fine arts," she accepted.

Queen Marie was guest of honor at a dinner given by President and Mrs. Coolidge at the White House before departing for the west on a special train. With tireless energy she inspected factories, sawmills, lighting plants and attended dinners night after night.

There was no incognito about her trip. She was traveling "as a Queen" she said "because that is the way the American public would like to have me do."

Her trip lasted five weeks, during which she saw much of Canada and the United States from coast to coast—and millions saw her. The return was hastened by news of the illness of Queen Marie's husband, King Ferdinand. He died a few months later.

Queen Marie once was characterized as the most striking example of a modern queen.

Noted for her beauty, she was resourceful, versatile and intellectual to a degree perhaps unequalled by any other queen of her time. Yet she was democratic, friendly and approachable and altogether one of the most human of sovereigns.

Few royal consorts have wielded greater influence than did Queen Marie during the reign of her husband.

Seek Answer To Date Chicagoan Had with Death

Chicago, July 18.—(AP)—Police wondered today why John O'Brien, 25-year-old bartender, waited two hours last night on a street corner for a date with death and who the man was who pumped five revolver bullets into his body.

Questioning of the dead man's former associates and his 20-year-old widow, Jacqueline, seemed to have brought Capt. Thomas J. Duffy no clue to the answers for those questions.

The bartender was shot deliberately by a man who alighted from an automobile and walked to within a few feet of his victim to perform the slaying. Then the killer loped back to the waiting machine and was driven away by a companion.

Rav Smith, night club doorman, told police after the shooting that the victim had arrived at the doorway in which he was shot two hours before he killers attacked him.

Mrs. O'Brien said she knew of no one who might wish to harm her husband. The couple had a 17-month-old daughter. Police said O'Brien had no criminal record.

County Board of Supervisors Called To Special Meeting

Chairman Henry Gehant of the Lee county board of supervisors has issued a call for a special meeting to be held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The meeting has been called to determine whether or not Lee county will file an application with the Public Works Administration for a program of highway improvement. Last week the special committee composed of Chairman Gehant, Superintendent of Highways Fred Leake and Seth Anderson, chairman of the finance committee went to Chicago to investigate the possibility of securing a Federal grant in support of a highway improvement program in Lee county.

Grasshoppers Have Invaded Montana

Sidney, Mont., July 18.—(AP)—Noisy swarms of grasshoppers forced farmers in 14 eastern Montana counties to put a salvage value on their best crops in years and threatened today to spread northward into Canada.

Dr. Harlow B. Mills, state entomologist at Montana State College, said farmers in the 14 counties, roughly a quarter of the state, must expect 40 to 100 per cent destruction of their crops.

Had Lusty Kick

Weatherford, Okla., July 18.—(AP)—Whirlwinds in Oklahoma have a lusty kick.

Mrs. Pete Friesen met one on a bridge near here. It turned her car end over end and dropped it on its top in the creek bed. She escaped with bruises.

THINK CORRIGAN MADE DECISION AFTER TAKE-OFF

"Sneak" Aviator Held as "Natural" Without Any Nerves

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Douglas Corrigan, of the nonstop New York-to-Dublin "sneak" flight, impressed everybody at Floyd Bennett field as a natural flier without nerves.

Otherwise Kenneth Behr, manager of the field, and others who talked to Corrigan found it a little difficult to classify him. His personality, Behr ventured, is a mixture of Irish — "a typical little Mick," said Behr — and Texas, dash and devilry, good sound sense and thoughtfulness, under exterior indifference to peril.

Neither modest nor forward but perfectly unassuming and confident, Corrigan struck Behr as a man who knows what he wants and knows when to get it and how to get it.

"He called me at home yesterday morning between 1 and 2 o'clock and said he wanted to take off," said Behr. "I came down and found he was loaded with gasoline so heavily he had no forward vision. I said I wouldn't allow him to take off in the darkness like that. He said he wanted to get away so he could cross the desert in the cool of the morning."

Agreed to Wait

After Behr talked to him, though, Corrigan said "I think you're right" and waited.

Behr watched him take off at daylight, a breathless few seconds with his heavy load of gas, and saw him vanish in the east.

"I had suspicion he might be going to Europe," Behr said, "and I called the weather bureau to find out if he had asked about trans-Atlantic weather. He had called all right, but had asked about the weather across country."

Did he carry food? Behr didn't know.

"If he did it was in his pockets, probably. I didn't see any sign of it."

Instant Decision

The feeling at Roosevelt field was that Corrigan didn't decide to fly to Ireland until he had actually climbed into his ancient high-wing monoplane.

When he came east he lived at the home of Stephen Reich, another flier, at Hempstead, Long Island. He left his extra clothes there when he got ready to go Saturday.

"Keep my clothes, Steve," he was quoted as saying. "I'll be back in a week anyhow."

All last week Corrigan studied newspaper weather maps and was understood to be planning a flight back to California. A close friend said Corrigan expected to fly down to Atlanta before heading west. Weather maps showed he would have a tail wind. On Saturday he went to nearby Mitchell field for reports on the condition of the weather between here and California.

Mechanics and fliers at Roosevelt field figured Corrigan planned to go west, and then, on the spur of the moment changed his mind.

Transient Negro is Held by the Police

Nelson Carter, a transient Negro, claiming Denver, Tenn., as his home and admitting being an ex-convict, is being held by police, on a vagrancy charge. Carter has been apprehended twice by the police during the past few days and hauled out of the city with instructions to seek another clime. He returned Sunday evening and was reported to be abusing citizens in the neighborhood of the Illinois Central passenger station, his arrest following.

A charge of vagrancy was preferred when he was arraigned before Justice Fremont Kaufman in police court this morning and the hearing was continued until Wednesday.

George Yocum, Ogle Co. Man, Took Own Life Sunday in Stone Quarry

George Yocum, who resided in Taylor township, Ogle county, north of Franklin Grove, committed suicide Sunday forenoon by inhaling carbon monoxide gas, his body being found lying in the back seat of his car in a stone quarry about two and a half miles south of the Lighthouse church in Nachusa township, Ogle county, by three WPA workers from Paynes Point, who notified the sheriff's office at Oregon. Dr. J. C. Akin of Forreston, Ogle county coroner, went to the quarry where he conducted an inquest, the jury returning a verdict of suicide by inhaling carbon monoxide gas on July 17.

Yocum had been employed on a WPA project at the stone quarry. Sunday morning he left home after stating that he was going to ride with a milk hauler. However, he took his dinner with him and drove away in his own car. Apparently, he drove direct to the stone quarry, where he disconnected the exhaust of his car, and removed a floor board, then attached a piece of metal drain spout over the exhaust pipe.

Following the inquest the body was removed to the Hicks mortuary at Franklin Grove. Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Washington Grove Christian church with interment in the adjoining cemetery.

Hughes Amazed

Roosevelt Field, New York, July 18.—(AP)—Evidently seeking words to express his amazement, Howard Hughes shook his head slowly from side to side, and then said of Douglas Corrigan's flight to Ireland:

"It's very, very remarkable."

The globe-circling record-holder has been interested in the exploits of Corrigan since he arrived from California after a non-stop flight about a week ago.

LEADERS OF NO. CHICAGO STRIKE FACE JAIL CELLS

Waukegan Judge Found Ten Guilty of Contempt of Court

North Chicago, July 18.—(AP)—Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady ruled today that 10 leaders of a strike at the Chicago Hardware & Foundry plant had violated an injunction and sentenced them to terms ranging from 20 to 120 days.

Judge Dady, sitting in Waukegan, handed down the ruling several hours after Sheriff Lawrence A. Doolittle and 15 Lake county deputies lost a pushing match to a band of pickets in front of the company's plant here.

The officers, who estimated the pickets at 200, arrested five men and a woman after they had tried unsuccessfully to move the picket line from Commonwealth avenue.

Judge Dady himself had issued the injunction, which restrained pickets from interfering with employees who desired to return to work. He ruled the 10 defendants were in contempt of court in disobeying the order.

Teacher Called Leader

The heaviest sentence was meted out to Robert Wirtz, 24, a university graduate and former school teacher, whom Judge Dady termed "the leader of those who wilfully disregarded the court's order."

Frank Kozak and August Pyche were sentenced to 30 days and these men to 20 days.

Lavern Adams, Sam Runyan, Nick Vihas, John Machnick, Phil Lorek, Nick Marcinkus and Joe Pankiewicz.

Wirtz's bond was set at $2,000 and the others at $500 each. Told that Wirtz had no connection with the company, but had come to the strike zone to collect material for a thesis, Judge Dady upbraided him for "urging disregard of the court order" despite his superior education."

No Fines Assessed

The court said no fines would be assessed because the families of the defendants would be deprived of "necessary money."

Pankiewicz was identified by deputies as one of the six persons arrested at the plant today. The others were booked as August Kozina, Joe Jordan, Nick Farella and his brother, Frank Farella, and Kozina's wife, Josephine. Officers said she interfered with them as they seized her husband.

Comparative quiet ensued at the plant today after this morning's disturbance.

Local Man Victim of Female Sleuth

T. A. McGinnis of this city was the victim of a woman pickpocket Sunday evening about 5 o'clock and while she conversed with him, his purse containing about $12 was removed from his trousers pocket. The victim and his brother, W. R. McGinnis were hailed by occupants of a car at the corner of Dixon avenue and Fifth street, the strangers inquiring the name of the street.

When the two brothers stepped to the side of the car to give the requested information, a woman alighted and felt their clothing. The car was occupied by one man and two women. After getting the requested information, the stranger drove away and the loss of the purse was soon after noted and the incident was reported to the police authorities.

Former Leader of Society is Dead

Chicago, July 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Harriet Benham Honore, 75, the once-wealthy sister-in-law of the late Mrs. Potter Palmer, a Chicago social leader for many years, died yesterday.

After the death in 1911 of her husband, Harry H. Honore, Jr., a brother of Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Honore, waged an unsuccessful legal battle against his relatives for a share in his estate. The Honores were married in 1908.

Of late Mrs. Honore had subsisted on a $26-monthly old age pension.

Three Are Killed; 75 Injured by Explosion Of Sinclair Oil Tank

Damages at Refinery In New York Set at $5,000,000

Wellsville, N. Y., July 18.—(AP)—A spectacular explosion early today spread new havoc in the $15,000,000 Sinclair Oil Company refinery, after three men were killed and 75 injured in a chaos of fire and explosions last night, but firemen finally appeared to be bringing the fire under control.

A storage tank containing 2,500 barrels of naphtha exploded shortly before daybreak with a deafening roar and a cloud-sweeping flash of fire. No one was reported injured, but a similar tank, exploding last night, skyrocketed clear across the nearby Genesee river and killed three spectators on the opposite bank.

Chief Hollin Johnston of the company's fire department said damage, including business as well as stock and equipment, would amount to about $5,000,000.

Emergency calls for oil fire fighting chemicals were broadcast through western New York and Pennsylvania after the new explosion today. Soon afterward, a 50,000-barrel tank of highly inflammable naphtha caught fire but a crew of 100 tired firemen took their lives in their hands and approached close enough to snuff out the fire with chemicals.

Dangers Develop

Another danger developed when fire, blazing up anew in the ruins of the waxing plant and power house, flared to within a scant five feet of the naphtha plant, filled with high explosive chemicals.

Anxious firemen stood guard over approximately 300 storage tanks of assorted sizes, containing various fluids, which stand on the refinery property.

Late last night it was believed for a time four men had perished. Firemen saw what they believed was a fourth body in the ruins, but it turned out to be part of a body previously found.

Thirteen tanks exploded last night while the fire was raging through the refinery.

Dead Were Spectators

The dead, all spectators, were: Walter Maeder, 45, unemployed. Robert Powers, 35, a restaurant worker. Eugene McCormick, 42. All were Wellsville residents. Sixty-five persons were treated for minor burns in an emergency hospital set up by doctors and nurses at the plant. Eye-witnesses estimated 10 other persons were slightly burned. One man was taken to the village hospital.

The tank which killed the three men began to bulge while firemen were building dikes to hold overflowing oil in the refinery grounds. Suddenly a sheet of flame 200

Kidnaped Babe is Back With Parents

Chicago, July 18.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wheeler of Waukegan had their 3-year-old son, Fred, back today, after he was kidnaped from the playground of a loop department store Saturday afternoon.

After police had searched five hours for the baby, a 16-year-old girl appeared with young Fred in her arms at the door of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Teska and explained she had taken a fancy to the baby and had carried him away from the store.

The Teskas notified police who quickly returned the child to his parents.

Cities States

Washington, July 18.—(AP)—Barnet Hodes, Chicago's corporation counsel, predicted today that New York City, Philadelphia and Chicago may "be forced to break away from the states and petition to be established themselves as states."

Hodes addressed the institute of municipal law officers, holding its midyear meeting.

There is a constant conflict, he said, between states and cities "and the granting of home rule to municipalities is the most vital problem that confronts American states today."

Hodes contended that cities need greater powers to handle new social problems.

JAP MOVEMENTS ALONG YANGTZE REPORTED SLOW

Shanghai, July 18.—(AP)—Long-range artillery duels between Japanese warships and Chinese land batteries continued along the Yangtze river today, but war raps showed the Japanese had made little progress during the past two weeks in the Yangtze sector.

The main concentration of Japanese warships still was at the Atowchen Boom, 175 miles downriver from Hankow, while land forces were held below Kiakiang, 135 miles below the provisional capital.

The warships reached Matowchen July 5 after three weeks of hard fighting to gain the 40 miles from Anking, capital of Anhwei province.

An attempt to advance overland from the north bank of the river in conjunction with the naval advance was meeting similar resistance.

Chinese reports said the invaders had suffered 10,000 casualties during the past two weeks below Kiakiang. They said several boatloads of bodies had been seen proceeding down the river.

Meanwhile, floodwaters of the rising Yellow river continued to spread over Honan province to the north, slowly extending the area where it is impossible to carry on military operations.

The section around Chengyangkwan, 150 miles southwest of Kweichow, Lunghai railway city, was turned into a vast lake, while many towns between there and the river were inundated.

Cab Driver Takes Howard Hughes to Date with Hepburn

New York, July 18.—(AP)—With thousands of other New Yorkers, Jesse Romero, a taxi driver, craned his neck last week for a glimpse of Howard Hughes but failed to see the homecoming hero.

Last night he picked up a passenger at a Park avenue apartment a tall, spare fellow who yanked his hat over his eyes and asked to be driven to Grover A. Whalen's home on Long Island.

On arriving, Romero noticed his passenger was received with a great fanfare. He pocketed his $6.20 fare and 80-cent tip and turned to a bystander.

"Who's that guy?" Romero asked.

"Howard Hughes," the bystander said.

"Gee," Romero said today, "The way I was driving him around Long Island, it's good thing he didn't take me on that round-the-world trip. We would have been flying yet."

He admitted he had been lost and had delivered Hughes 40 minutes late for his dinner date with Katharine Hepburn and 100-odd other prominent guests.

Adopt New Deal

Fredonia, N. Y., July 18.—(AP)—Fredonia's board of trustees has decided on a new deal for harassed housewives.

An ordinance adopted by the board to go into effect July 25 makes it a misdemeanor for "peddlers, agents and solicitors" to ring door bells. The statute calls for a $100 fine.

State Sanitary Engineer Says Dish Washing Should be Artfully Done

Springfield, Ill., July 18.—(AP)—Clarence W. Klassen, the state health department's chief sanitary engineer, offered housewives some advice today on how to wash dishes.

What with the summer volume of soft drink and beer business, Klassen said in a statement, plus the fact germs thrive in warm weather, it's easy to catch trench mouth, diarrhea or typhoid fever.

"If bacteria were visible to the naked eye," Klassen's statement continued, "a lot of housewives and restaurant habitués would be amazed to see several field armies of these minute forms of life on dishes and other eating utensils."

Dish-washing should be "artfully done," and "assume the dignity of a scientific art," the statement added. To this end he said dishes and glassware should:

Be washed first in soapy hot water, not less than 110 degrees Fahrenheit, then immersed for a half minute in boiling water or two minutes in 170 degree water.

"LOST" FLIER LANDS TODAY NEAR DUBLIN

Douglas Corrigan of California Had No Permit for Stunt

Baldonnel Airport, Dublin, Ireland, July 18.—(AP)—An antiquated, single-motored American airplane fluttered down here this afternoon after its owner, 31-year-old Douglas Corrigan, had pushed it across the Atlantic in a surprise, unsanctioned flight from New York.

It taxied across the field and wheeled to a stop. Flabbergasted Irish airport officials rushing to the machine saw a grinning pilot climb out.

"I'm Douglas Corrigan," he said. "Just got in from New York."

"It took me 28 hours and 13 minutes,"

The plane came down from a

Wired Self In

New York, July 18.—(AP)—When Douglas Corrigan climbed into his dilapidated airplane to fly the North Atlantic, he had to wire himself in. The knob had come off the cabin door, so he closed it with a piece of baling wire hooked around a nail.

His plane had 45 less horsepower than that of Charles A. Lindbergh, who crossed to Paris in 1927. It was the same make and type of ship used by Al and Fred Keyes a few years ago to set a world's endurance record of 653 hours at Meridan, Miss.

rain-streaked sky at 2:30 P. M. (7:30 A. M., C. S. T.) 28 hours 13 minutes after Corrigan had taken off from Floyd Bennett Airport on a flight "to California"—and with no permit for a transatlantic crossing.

Asked "Where Am I?"

"By the way, where am I?" the flier asked the gathering Irish crowd.

The gaping Irish looked at Corrigan, at his plane and its nearby empty gasoline tanks, then back at the cheerful young pilot, dressed in leather jacket and trousers.

Broad smiles broke, and brogues began.

"Corrigan, eh?" asked one Dubliner. "Have a nice crossing?"

"Not bad," was Corrigan's reply. "There was not much to it. I flew over the clouds all the time, and never saw the ocean until I reached the coast. The weather was good."

Then, quite belatedly, attendants thought of landing papers and asked Corrigan for them.

Thought It California

"Forget it," he said, yawning. "I thought it was California all the time."

Corrigan's plane, of the vintage of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis," was believed to be capable of only about 100 miles an hour. The plane Lindbergh flew to Paris in 1927 is preserved in a museum.

Corrigan had no radio and only the barest navigating instruments. The first intimation of his whereabouts today was at 6:08 A. M., C. S. T., when he flew over Belfast.

Officials of Belfast Harbor airport noticed its American registration markings. But they were unaware of a trans-Atlantic hop and did not immediately report his arrival.

Odds 100 to 1

Veteran fliers said Corrigan's feat was accomplished against odds of 100-to-1. It amazed Baldonnel airport officials. He apparently had aimed straight and unerringly for the goal he long had cherished.

The unofficial time of his flight was more than double the 13 hours and 17 minutes record James A. Mollison made on his flight in 1936 from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, to London.

The report spread quickly in Dublin that there was a "crazy flier" in town. It reached newspaper headlines just like that.

Corrigan sat munching sandwiches as airport officials pressed him to produce his landing papers.

Really Now, I Thought I was heading for California,

he beamed. "It was not until I saw your mountains here that I realized it was not California."

Minister's Guest

The United States Minister John Cudahy, sent his automobile to the airport. It picked up the flier and delivered him to the legation. It is expected he will be the guest of the minister for several days.

Technically Corrigan is under

LOVE ON THE RANGE

BY NELSON C. NYE

THE STORY SO FAR

Under the name of Abe Streeter, quick-fire Ankrom takes a job on the troubled Rafter T ranch to help lovely Lee Trone. Colonel Struthers and his daughter Betty come to visit, and Ankrom recognizes Struthers as an imposter. Kelton Drear is shot and Betty tells Ankrom she did it. Ratchford, the burly sheriff, questions them all, including Claydell, a neighboring rancher. Then he turns on Lee. Lee Trone's red lips curled scornfully: "I'll bite," she said. "What was I?"

Chapter 15

EXPOSED

Ratchford scowled. "You're talking to the sheriff of this county now. I expect a civil answer."

"Very well," she answered. "I was not under the pepper tree when that man was killed."

"I was walking toward it from the rear of the bunkhouse."

Ankrom saw suspicion in the sheriff's glance. "Why?"

"It was warm inside and I wanted to get some air."

"Why did you happen to pick that pepper tree to head for?"

"I wanted to be alone. The shadows were dark there and I didn't think anyone would see me."

There were puzzled corrugations on the sheriff's forehead. "I have often felt like being alone, myself," he said. "But I can't see why you would want to be alone when old friends you hadn't seen for years had just arrived."

"I felt strange toward them. Some how I couldn't accept them as old friends," Lee said simply. "I could not help feeling that they were strangers—and they were, you know."

Her glance went to the girl who called herself Betty Struthers. "Why did you and that man practice this imposture on us?" she asked curiously.

A tear fell slowly from one moist blue eye as the girl from Paso Pinto faced her hostess. "Miss Trone—you'll never forgive us. I know, but we knew the real colonel and his daughter. He had often told us of the Rafter T. I have always wanted to spend a summer on a ranch. Finally I persuaded father to impersonate—" she broke off and, turning her head away, put a handkerchief to her eyes.

Ankrom wondered if this were the truth. He felt strongly inclined to doubt it, for he knew the man she called her father was Kelton Drear and so far as he had ever heard, Kelton Drear had no daughter. Too, he recalled the place where first he'd seen this girl. No, he decided this yarn was a lie. But the girl was a clever actress—

He saw the sheriff looking at her closely, saw the sudden tautening of Ratchford's figure. "Isn't this bogus colonel really Kelton Drear, the Tombstone gambler?"

The golden head drooped lower. "Thought so!" the sheriff grunted. "Drear," he told the others, "is that unhorn that made a lot of brag about gettin' that shoooin' fool, Blur Ankrom. Seems like Ankrom gunned this Drear's cousin couple years back, and the gambler swore dead never rest till he evened the account."

"What's all that got to do with us?" Trone asked, pulling himself together. Ankrom saw that the fit of shaking had gone out of him.

"Mebbe nothing," the sheriff answered. "Then again it might have a whole heap to do with you. It all depends . . ."

He broke off to frown at Claydell who was grinning.

"He means," Claydell chuckled, "that one way of explainin' Drear's presence on your ranch in any guise—"

"Button your lip, damn you!" Ratchford snarled.

The rancher returned the sheriff's glare with bland surprise. "Was I about to give state secrets away?"

"Some day," Ratchford's voice was deeply vibrant, "you're goin' to push me too far, Claydell. When that time comes you better have your holster greased."

"You remind me of a spoiled boy. When you can't have things all your own way you sulk. It's time you grew up."

Warning

Before Ratchford could reply, Claydell went on:

"You may be the sheriff of this county, unfortunately, but that don't come anywhere near givin' you a corner on the conversation. Any time I feel the urge to break forth in speech, neither you nor all your sheep-herdin' deputies are going to hold the back. This here's a warning, Ratchford. You watch your step!"

While the sheriff stood spluttering with purple face, Claydell bowed to the others regretfully and took his leave, permitting his revolver to lay upon the floor where Ratchford's boot had shoved it. Perhaps, Ankrom thought, he had forgotten the weapon. At any rate, he left without it and a few moments later his purring motor faded on the distant night.

Ankrom's abrupt laugh broke the silence Claydell's departure had left behind.

"What the hell you laughin' at?" Ratchford snarled.

"Laughin' at the way that fella curled you up an' left you gaspin'!" Ankrom chuckled.

"Oh, you are, are you? Well, you keep right on laughin' then while you got the chance. When you're all through I'll have a few things to say that'll give you an opportunity to laugh on the other side of your mug!"

"Hop to it, then. It's long past my bedtime an' nothin' makes me so dang obstreperous as missin' my beauty sleep—"

"You knew," growled Old Man Trone, cutting sharply into Ankrom's sentence, "that that fellow of Lee's father. 'I was waitin'!" he impersonated Colonel Struthers was a damned fake, sir. Why don't you expose him?"

Ankrom's face grew sober as he gazed into the stern accusing eyes answered, "to see how far the skunk would carry it."

He saw Lee's glance travel past him to the girl from Paso Pinto, whose head was still averted. "I think his brain was addled by a pretty face," Lee said.

Hot color flowed through Ankrom's cheeks. "Perhaps it was," he told her quietly. "But you needn't worry about it happenin' again."

With a curt bow he turned on his heel and went striding toward the door.

Ratchford's voice came leaping after him: "C'mere! You tryin' to slide out on me like that? You better stick around!"

Wild Hoofbeats

Ankrom, looking back saw that Ratchford's hand was at his hip. He grinned coldly at the sheriff. "I expect that's your way of advisin' me to linger in this county. Well, don't fret yourself; I'll stay, all right. I guess you ain't used to my kind, brother. I belong to a breed that sticks to the last gasp."

"All right, Curley Wolf," the sheriff gibed. "You listen now. You saw me prove that this Struthers dude was really Kelton Drear, the gambler. Drear's been spendin' a heap of time in the las' two years chasin' after one Blur Ankrom. This Ankrom killed Drear's cousin in a gun fight. Now it seems to me it would put you in an awkward spot, seein' as how Drear was killed here tonight, was I to prove that your real name's Blur Ankrom. That's something for you to be mulled over while you're gettin' in that beauty sleep you mentioned!"

With the sheriff's ominous words still coursing through his mind, Ankrom sat on the edge of his bunk several minutes later, bent double in the task of pulling off his boots. But suddenly his fingers ceased all operations. The turning leading down from the ridge hemming the valley rang a wild rattle of hoofbeats.

For one breathless second he sat there listening. Then with a bound he was on his feet and moving toward the open door with long swift strides. In the shadow outside the doorway he halted to gaze across the night. But no moving thing met his stare along the trail leading down from the ridge.

With hurried quiet he moved to the rear of the bunkhouse. What he saw stilled the breath in his throat, inured as he was to danger.

A forward-bent rider with flogging arm and flapping legs was tearing madly down that treacherous rear pitch from the valley's rim. Ankrom's eyes glinted narrowly as he watched that crazy course. It seemed impossible that horse and rider at that fearful space should reach the valley's floor alive.

His being quickened as the reckless saddle-slicker drove his rocking mount across the stream. Between the buildings and straight across the yard they tore, the horse braking to a stop in a cloud of dust as Ankrom rounded the far corner of the bunkhouse. He heard the rider hit dirt, saw him go toward the ranch-house's veranda at a staggering run, stiff-legged from long contact with the saddle.

Ankrom saw the ranchhouse door burst open; saw dark figures come spilling out across the porch like red ants from a burning log. They were silhouetted black against the front room's lighted windows so that by their shapes he could guess at their identities. He heard the sheriff's low curse and Old Man Trone's excited voice hurling questions.

The runner stopped, stood away before the ranch-house steps as he fought for breath. There was a sob in the words that finally came: "Rustlers! boss—they've got that beef we had on the northwest range!"

Ankrom saw Trone's form shrink back as from a blow; saw a trembling hand come up to brush across his forehead. Trone's question came from a thickened throat: "Wiped clean—?"

"Clean as a hound's tooth!" the puncher blurted.

Travel Booklet Is Issued by a Canada Bureau

The resident of the United States who is planning a vacation "across the line" should write to the Canadian Travel Bureau, Department of Transport, Ottawa, Canada, and will receive, by return mail, a booklet which is a masterpiece of travel literature, ranking with the best produced in any country.

This publication which goes by the intriguing title of "Canada, Your Friendly Neighbor, Invites You," presents some 60 pages of extremely able photographs, colored plates by well-known Canadian artists and smoothly written, inviting copy. So many spots beckon—so many wildernesses challenge the imagination—so many national playgrounds, send forth their invitation—that it is hard to choose between them.

The brochure with its gay cover is filled with authentic information about the Dominion of Canada and its widely diversified vacation attractions. Without any suggestion of statistics it incorporates a large amount of very useful practical detailed information for the use of the prospective vacationist. In a word, it is both impressive to the eye and informative in regard to the attractions and facilities that Canada offers to summer visitors. The booklet will be forwarded, free of charge, to anyone asking for it.

FOR CHEAP TRAVEL.

TRY A HORSE

Carlsbad, N. M., (AP)—Rueben Bohlinger, missionary preacher from Signal Mountain, Tenn., recently arrived in Carlsbad town a horseback ride from his home town that he reported cost him only $7.

Bohlinger said the horse had to be shod seven times on the journey and he averaged 20 or 30 miles a day. Farmers, the preacher reported, still are glad to give a horse-riding traveler a night's free lodging and the blacksmithing was about the only cost of the trip.

Charles R. Walgreens Give Weekend Party for 130 "C. R. W." Girls at "Hazelwood"

Charles R. Walgreen has built an estate along a river and been a friend to mankind.

A few miles out of Dixon and along Rock river Mr. Walgreen owns a paradise called "Hazelwood" where he and Mrs. Walgreen act as gracious host and hostess to their many friends and employees.

This past week end it was a group of about 130 women from the Walgreen company in Chicago who enjoyed the abundant advantages for rest and relaxation which "Hazelwood" has to offer.

Some of them arrived as early as Saturday afternoon and spent an evening in a peace that is broken only by the re-assuring call of night birds. Some of the guests enjoyed sleeping in the breeze-swept house built in a tree which is reached only by a rustic ladder, while others shared the accommodations of the lodges.

There are so many things to enjoy, so many beauties to behold at "Hazelwood" that the week end must have seemed all too short to the visitors. One thing is certain: all must have returned to the city with a memory of a loveliness too perfect for words.

There are two large lodges on the estate. One, the newer, was built a year ago and includes private accommodations for Mr. and Mrs. Walgreen and their family. In the living room of this large stone and log structure there is a huge window commanding a wide sweep of the river. The constantly changing moods of nature and the four acts of the seasons present a living landscape picture of quiet beauty.

A part of the left wing of the lodge has been fitted into the nursery which has been designed as the interior of a ship. Fish nets are hung at the windows for curtains and four bunks, each with its porthole, furnish the "vessels' sleeping quarters. Colors are in blue and white and details are so complete that a sudden lurch to starboard would not be surprising. In the basement is a large game room with billiard tables and a fireplace so large it looks like a fair-sized theatre stage. Over this enormous fire pit hangs a large tropical fish caught by Justin Dart off the coast of Key West.

One of the most interesting features of the 120 acres of "Hazelwood" is the old log cabin which is over a hundred years old. In its well-preserved interior is a living room filled with Lincoln lore and the lovely things of "the dear, dead days beyond recall." From this cabin a metal lined tunnel leads to the estate's original lodge, called the "Barn."

Preserving the original shape of the barn and many of its ancient timbers, some steel-hard with age, this lodge has been furnished with careful regard to detail and with a purpose to retain the early American style. Beneath the living room of this lodge is another game and recreation room and squash courts. Here, also, is to be found the famous collection of guns which Mr. Walgreen has assembled into an arsenal of some 6,700 weapons. Guns, sabers, swords and even small cannon are to be found of all sizes and descriptions. Many have a history as bloody as the days of Jesse James and the Twentieth Century's Dillinger.

Over the sloping, well-groomed lawn east of the lodges is a crystal-clear swimming pool set like a blue diamond on a velvet of green. Trails through wildflowers lead along the river bluff and are flanked one side by a wall of rock out of which moss and ferns grow in soil-filled crevices. Stone steps lead back to the greensward where lacy hammocks strung between shade trees invite the weary hiker. A putting green and croquet court as smooth as billiard tables are to be enjoyed near the "Barn." A large and beautiful lily pool is surrounded by lovely mid-summer flowers. Riding horses are housed here along with young steers from Arizona for the pleasure of rodeo-lovers.

Horseback riding, swimming, hiking, croquet, and the putting green provided a varied and delightful choice of entertainment for the guests, and crowning all was the Sunday dinner hour, when the large company assembled at long tables on the flower-bordered lawn. Blue and white checked cloths were used on the tables, with bouquets of mixed garden flowers lending a festive note.

Today the 130 "C. R. W." girls who have taken that name from the initials of their employer, have returned to Chicago, each made happier by a host and hostess who have experienced that one of the equations for happiness is the oft-repeated: "If you would have a friend; be a friend."

ENTERTAINS "OUR GANG"

Miss Helen Butler was hostess at a recent meeting of "Our Gang." A short hike was followed by an evening of music, with refreshments served by the hostess as a pleasant interruption.

Miss Elsie Stahl and Robert Fischer were fortunate in a balloon blowing contest. The next meeting is planned for tomorrow evening at the Fischer home.

SUNDAY DINNER GUESTS

Dr. and Mrs. Z. W. Moss were Sunday dinner guests of Dr. and Mrs. Hoyt. The Hoyts were entertaining at their summer home near Oregon.

MICHIGAN GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Schroeder and daughter, Evelyn, of Plymouth, Mich., have arrived for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Prescott. Mrs. Prescott is Mrs. Schroeder's daughter.

L. Leighton Rigby, Former Dixonite, is Wed in Le Roy, N. Y.

From Buffalo, N. Y. comes news of the wedding of Miss Margaret Spencer Jones, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Evan M. Jones of Le Roy, and L. Leighton Rigby of Buffalo, formerly of Dixon, Ill. The ceremony was performed at high noon on Saturday, July 2, at the First Presbyterian church at Le Roy by the bride's father, assisted by his brother, the Rev. David R. Jones of Greenville, Pa.

Madonna lilies with green vines and foliage formed the basis of simple decorations carrying out a color scheme of green and white.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, William A. James of Buffalo, chose her cousin, Mrs. Ben R. Jones of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., as her matron of honor. Cyrus Rigby of Buffalo served his brother as best man.

The bride was gown in white chiffon en train with Juliet cap. The matron of honor wore a gown of shell pink chiffon and leghorn hat trimmed with rose-colored ribbon. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of pink roses and delphinium.

Mrs. Jones, mother of the bride, wore blue chiffon with matching accessories. Mrs. Rigby, mother of the bridegroom, was gown in blue lace.

A reception followed at the manse on Clay street. A buffet luncheon was served to 60 relatives and friends of the bridal pair. Mr. and Mrs. Rigby left by motor for a western trip, and will reside in Buffalo.

Mrs. Rigby was graduated from Le Roy high school and Mt. Holyoke college. The bridegroom, a son of Mrs. Elsie Rigby of Rochester, was chemist at the Borden factory here for several years, and was transferred to Buffalo last fall.

OBSERVE SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Potts of 506 West First street were honor guests at a scramble dinner yesterday in Lowell Park, the occasion being in recognition of the couple's twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of July 12. Forty relatives and friends made up the crowd.

Mr. and Mrs. Potts who were married in Carlyle, Ill., have seven children, including Mrs. Harold Thompson of this city, and Maxine, Mamie Frances, Paul, Victor and Kenneth.

FORUM HAS BREAKFAST PARTY

Bacon and eggs a la fresco were enjoyed by members of the Forum at an early morning breakfast party yesterday in Lowell park. Gathering at the Vaile Shelter for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Buckingham, the Misses Naomi Woll, Mila Woll, Helen Lang, Louise Kline of Baxter, Ia., and Gwen Ferstberg of Clinton, Ia. Paul Black, Gene Goddard, and Charles Ross.

NACHUSA FARM BUREAU UNIT HAS PICNIC

The second annual picnic of the Nachusa Farm Bureau unit attracted 61 guests to Lowell park yesterday. Ice cream, provided by Ben Begner's committee, was served with the dessert course for a basket dinner.

Boating and soft ball were popular pastime for the day.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Life" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 17.

The Golden Text was, "As the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself" (John 5:26).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And now, Israel, what doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul. To keep the commandments of the Lord, and his statutes, which I command thee this day for thy good" (Deut. 10:12, 13).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Because Life is God, Life is the everlasting I AM, the Being who was and is and shall be, whom nothing can erase" (pp. 239-299).

Cheating Death in the Mountains

Painfully threading their way downward through jagged rock chimneys like the one seen above, rescuers are shown as they brought Roger Carney to safety from the 10,000-foot top of Mt. Olympus near Salt Lake City, Utah. Carney had fallen into a 15-foot ravine and lay 18 hours with a compound fracture of the lower leg before rescuers found him. Then they rigged the cradle-like stretcher shown above and laboriously carried Carney downward, sharing in shifts the back-breaking and nerve-trying race against time and imminent danger of infection.

Queen Marie—

band, King Ferdinand. Her great interest in her adopted country and its development began when she took up her residence in Rumania after her marriage to Ferdinand when he was still a prince.

International Fame.

It was during the World War, however, and the troublesome years after the conflict that Queen Marie by her conspicuous activities attained international prominence. Ferdinand, who had been a prince of the house of Hohenzollern, ascended the Rumanian throne in 1914. His queen was a former princess royal of Great Britain.

At the outbreak of the great war, the king announced that Rumania would remain neutral unless attacked, but his government's sympathy in the conflict was indicated when the king was shouted down during a speech from the throne in November, 1915.

Early in the next year the former Kaiser sent a note to King Ferdinand declaring his intention to send a special envoy to Rumania relative to the latter's position in the war. A few days later Rumania entered the conflict on the side of the Allies declaring war against Austria. That decision was said to have been influenced by Queen Marie.

Country Overrun.

After two years of fighting, two-thirds of Rumania was overrun by the enemy. The country, cut off from outside aid, was forced to accept drastic peace terms sent by Germany with an ultimatum that they be accepted in 24 hours. Queen Marie insisted that she never would recognize the treaty that had been forced upon her country and immediately took the lead in a movement to have Rumania re-enter the war on the side of the Allies. With the collapse of the German army on the western front a few months later, the treaty that forced Rumania out of the war became ineffective.

During the war the queen was active in relief work among her people and also served as a Red Cross nurse in the war area.

Queen Marie was born at East-well Park, Kent, England, October 29, 1875. Her father, the second son of Queen Victoria, was Alfred, Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha and Duke of Edinburgh. Her mother was the Grand Duchess Marie Alexandrovna, only daughter of Alexander II, Czar of Russia. Marie was married to Ferdinand in 1893. They had six children of whom Princess Mircea, the youngest, died in childhood in 1916. The others were:

Carol, former crown prince, born in 1893, who married Princess Helen of Greece; Princess Elizabeth, born in 1894, who became the wife of former King George of Greece; Princess Marie, born in 1899, who was married to King Alexander of Yugoslavia; Prince Nicholas, born in 1903, and Princess Ileana, born in 1908.

Coronation Delayed.

Although Ferdinand and Marie were crowned in 1914, their coronation was delayed because of the World War and post-war conditions in their country until October, 1922. King Ferdinand died July 20, 1927.

In October of the previous year Queen Marie, accompanied by Prince Nicolas and Princess Ileana, came to the United States and during a five weeks' stay made a tour of many of the principal cities. The royal party was received enthusiastically everywhere and at the White House President and Mrs. Coolidge gave a state dinner for them. They sailed for home November 23, their visit somewhat abbreviated because of the illness of King Ferdinand.

Queen Marie spoke English, French, German, Rumanian and some Russian. She was an accomplished painter and pyrographist, an expert in the cultivation of flowers and was intensely interested in music and literature.

In 1652 a mint was established in Boston at which Pine Tree shillings were coined.

OPERATIONS AT MAYTAG PLANTS RESUMED TODAY

Newton, Iowa, July 18.—(AP)—Four hundred and fifty persons, most of them members of the back-to-work movement, returned to their jobs at the Maytag Washing Machine Company plant today as production started for the first time since May 9 when C. I. O. union men went out on strike in protest against a 10 per cent wage reduction.

As the wheels of the big factory started turning, union men watched in groups from across the street, but made no move to halt the entrance of those who returned to work.

A. H. Taylor, factory superintendent, said production was under way in all departments and that he expected to have completed washing machines rolling off the end of the assembly line by tonight. Resumption of work at the plant followed by 36 hours a report of a special arbitration board recommending that the employees return to work at the wages in effect before the strike and let the company and the union attempt to iron out issues of the controversy through arbitration.

The union accepted the arbitration board's recommendations in general but the company refused proposals.

There was no immediate indication by union officials as to what their next move would be. One "sand union workers are still idle.

In 1929 over 19 million families had yearly incomes of less than $2,500, and in 16 million families the income was less than $2,000.

TAMPERING WITH CURRENCY

Floyd B. Odium, president of the Atlas corporation, an investment company, brought an optimistic report from Europe and it was given in an interview on his return.

Asked what European investors thought of the rising American stock market, he said:

"I found in checking around abroad a large amount of investment money for American securities awaiting only definite clarification of whether there would be a further reduction of gold in the dollar."

As long as the amount of gold in the dollar is left to the power of one man, and that man about as uncertain a quantity as ever was placed in authority over anything, it will remain a threat against business activity. It doesn't make so much difference what the final decision is. It is the lack of decision that creates the uncertainty.

What if business had to go to work every morning without knowing how many inches were going to be in a yard six months hence, or how many pounds in a bushel or a ton?

What would you do in a case like that?
That is the position business is in.

TWEEDLEDUM EQUALS TWEEDLEDEE

The League of American Writers, which has a platform that includes a plank to "Support the people's front in all countries," has issued a compendium of views of American authors purporting to show whether they are in favor of fascism and Franco. Most of the 400 writers questioned said they are not. A few were interpreted as neutral, and only one was decided to be in favor of Fascism and Franco.

One of the weaknesses of human nature is its propensity to jump at conclusions. Each man has his conception of fascism. In some quarters Franklin D. Roosevelt is considered a pro-Fascist. In others, Mr. Hoover is one. Considering the wide variance between the two, it could hardly be possible that they would unite on fascism, even if they knew, or if anyone else knew, what fascism is.

Competent medical men know pretty well what measles is. Architects are able to differentiate between an Elizabethan house and a box car. An engineer knows the difference between a steam engine and an electric motor. Measles, architecture and engineering are generally fixed. They do not appear in one form in one country and in another form across the border. In other words they are not states of mind.

In Italy fascism permits a king; in Germany it keeps the Hohenzollerns and Hapsburgs at arm's length; in Rumania, which leans toward what is called fascism, a king is the dictator. If the mere seizure of power and the exercise of it constitutes fascism then the world's most beautiful example of it is in Russia. What is the difference between the system in Russia and the system in Germany? Both are operated for the enlightenment of humanity, the benefit of the blessed people and to keep the world from plunging into chaos. There is private property in Russia, and there are profits, bondholders and coupon clippers. A good workman in Russia gets more pay than a poor one and in addition to that he gets some sort of title or medal to set him apart from the common herd; in Russia there are two classes, members of the communist party and those who are not. Members of the party may buy butter and other such delicacies at times when the masses can't have them.

The same conditions prevail in Italy and Germany, except that the Nazi party in Germany is substituted for the communist party and in Italy the fascist bundle of withes with the ax is the symbol of party ascendancy.

In other words, in Russia they started a system that could not be made to work, and they compromised; the same was true in Germany and Italy, and they compromised, so that each of the trio now has something that stumbles along with the aid of patriotic fervor, censorship of press and radio, mob action by party thugs and the firing squad or the ax.

The difference is the same as between tweedledum and tweedledee. Scores of the authors quoted in the questionnaire mentioned at the beginning of this article expressed violent abhorrence of fascism and Franco, but their sentiment toward communism was conspicuous by its failure to be mentioned.

What these voluble people overlook is the fact that for every action there is a reaction, and it is especially true in politics. The press was the antidote to Machiavelli; Rummiede was the antidote to King John; the Declaration of Independence was the antidote to taxation without representation; fascism was intended to be the antidote to communism, but behold it develops that the German people and the Italian people are the antidote to the world-ambitious Stalin.

Fascism can be one thing today and perhaps something else tomorrow. Mussolini once was a violent radical and wrote a book which, when he came into power, he had to suppress as subversive to his own regime. Bavaria dabbled with communism shortly after the war, and the communist-hating Hitler set himself up as a tentative commissar.

Congress has authorized more war vessels, but don't worry about the cost. It authorized some back in Hoover's time, but never provided the money.

WASHINGTON—It will be 1943 at best before Barbara Hutton can become an American citizen again. Immigration officials declare the law has no loopholes, and if the five-and-dime heiress wants to regain citizenship she will be treated exactly as if she were a native of Denmark. Not all the high-powered lawyers retainable by the Woolworth millions can get her in earlier, according to the Immigration Bureau.

To get into the country, Barbara must be charged to the Danish quota like any would-be immigrant from Denmark. This will not be difficult, since the Danish quota—like all quotas except Turkish and Spanish—is wide open.

Then she must apply to the nearest U. S. consul for a visa for permanent residence. To get that visa, the Countess-heiress must show that she is in good health and will not become a public charge.

Once admitted to the country, she must "file intention," or take out her first papers. In due time, she must appear before a federal court for naturalization. But full five years must elapse after she has established permanent residence.

Immigration officials say the Hutton case will give them no worry, because the law is completely inelastic—sometimes too much so to suit them.

Rail Wages

The railroad unions are now taking a secret poll on the wage-cut party that meets in Chicago late this month; behind which is much hot feeling among the Brotherhood leaders, that they were "double-crossed" last spring by the employers.

This may or may not be true. The rail executives say it is not true, and that they were open and above board in their wage-cut maneuvers.

Early in April, they claim J. J. Pelley of the New Haven, president of the Association of American Railroads, called a meeting in his Washington offices of Brotherhood and company executives. Most of the big-guns of both camps attended.

They included Martin W. Clement of the Pennsylvania; Daniel Willard of the B. & O.; E. S. French of the Boston and Maine; C. E. Denney of the Erie; Ralph Budd of the Burlington; E. M. Durham of the Rock Island; George M. Harrison, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives Association; A. Johnston of the Locomotive Engineers; D. B. Robertson of the Firemen and Engineers; J. A. Phillips of the Conductors; and T. C. Cashen of the Switchmen's Union.

Pelley opened the confab with the blunt announcement that the companies were planning to move for a wage cut. But he mentioned no definite amount. Harrison, hot tempered and explosive, immediately denounced the proposal. A sharp discussion ensued, lasting until the lunch hour.

Counter Offer

During this recess the labor chiefs formulated a counter proposal which they laid before the employers when the conference resumed. The plan provided:

(1) A guarantee of earnings by the Government. (2) R. F. C. loans for new equipment. (3) WPA projects for unemployed rail workers. (4) no wage cut. (5) the rail unions to help put this program through Congress.

J. J. Pelley, Daniel Willard and several other executives favored the plan and agreed to take it under consideration. When the meeting broke up the Brotherhood leaders left with what they considered to be definite assurances that no further action would be taken on a wage-cut until they first had been notified.

The Cut that Cut

But on April 29, the rail executives met in Chicago and without further ado announced a 15 per cent wage reduction.

This step was taken, however, only after sharp protests by Willard and Pelley. They warned that the move would gravely jeopardize the chances of getting any relief legislation from Congress.

"Gentlemen," remonstrated Pelley, "you may wind up by getting neither government loans nor the wage cut."

Other executives pool-pooled these fears, insisting that Congress would authorize RFC loans notwithstanding the wage-cut announcement. As subsequent events proved, they were 100 per cent wrong, with Pelley and Willard 100 per cent right.

Infuriated by the surprise pay cut declaration, the Brotherhoods threw their full weight against any loan legislation. So Congress, which had been on the verge of rushing railroad loans, hastily junked them and refused to lift a finger for the teetering carriers.

THE STORY OF HEREDITY... THE SMITHS

"The keenest anguish known to human nature is the pain of a new idea." (Bagehot). We hope this column brings you pain.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Probably fifty million persons have been given tests of intelligence and these tend strangely to show that mental speed is inherited. Parents who make high scores have more children who make high scores than do the children of low-score parents. Intelligence—or rather the capacity to become intelligent with effort and education—is made up of hosts of separate, inherited elements, but children of quick-thinking parents are more likely to receive a large number and be quick thinkers than are the children of slow-thinking parents.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. In a personality study reported recently by Dr. A. H. Maslow, of Brooklyn, he concluded that the conservatives were more romantic, more religious, polite and good-humored; while the radicals were less religious, less romantic and lower than conservatives in sex morals. Well, decide for yourself which set of qualities would make the better husbands. You can provide a check on yourself by reading the fascinating booklet "How to Be Happily Married" by Dr. E. R. Groves, eminent authority on marriage relationships. Sent at cost, 10 cents, plus 3c stamped addressed envelope.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Not unless he was an idiot or insane. Some people have less actual troubles than others although those who have the most actual troubles often have the fewest real troubles. Their troubles don't trouble them much, that is, they meet them bravely and cheerfully and solve them. Others let little troubles down them. She was endeavoring to persuade a group of Washington photographers not to take pictures of Swedish Crown Prince Gustav Adolf and Princess Louise, who dined unofficially with the Hulls recently at The Carlton.

Swanson's Yacht
The only thing that makes life unhappy for Mrs. Swanson, wife of the Navy Secretary, is that husband Claude won't let her use the yacht Sequoia for private parties.

The Sequoia—formerly the Presidential yacht—is assigned to the Secretary of the Navy. She is tied up at the Navy Yard dock in Washington, with a full crew in readiness, and Swanson could order anchors aweigh on the slightest whim.

But he insists that the yacht must be used only for official—or at least semi-official—excursions, and when Mrs. Swanson says she wants to take a little party of friends down the river, Claude exercises a firm veto.

Brain Twizzlers

By PROF. J. D. FLINT

During the revolution which was in progress in a small country it was found necessary to purchase shoes for soldiers on one side. The chief officer in charge of the purchasing department was fully aware of the necessity of economy so he decided to make an investigation to determine accurately the needs of the army. When all reports were completed he found that two percent of the soldiers were one-legged and half of the rest of them always went barefoot. Knowledge of this fact saved over-purchasing. How many shoes, not pairs, were needed for the army? The answer obviously cannot be an exact number but there is a very good answer.

Answer to Saturday's Twizzler.
The use of the five digits is: 13 x 4 equals 52.

Today in Rochelle

Arthur T. Guest, Reporter

Members of the Chamber of Commerce will be guests at a play day at the Rochelle Town and Country club on Thursday afternoon and evening, July 21. The affair is sponsored by the local organization in an effort to increase the feeling of good fellowship between the members, many of whom are so rushed with business cares that they do not have an opportunity to relax and enjoy the friendship of their business associates.

Phil W. Hay is the general chairman in charge for the day and will be assisted by Harry Ingleson, well known and popular entertainer. Members of the executive committee who will assist the above named gentlemen are: John Maxson, N. R. Lassack, Ben L. Herve, Hector Caron and Charles Unger.

In the afternoon, tentative arrangements have been made for golf, baseball, trap shooting, tug of war, etc. Members will find that there will be plenty of entertainment, whatever their individual tastes may be. Bill Lassack is the chairman for outdoor sports, his assistants will be: C. E. Motlong, R. Hamaker, Harvey Phelps, W. P. Vierke, Eddie Winebrenner, Ralph Cleveland and Buck Foley.

Dinner will be served buffet style in the Country Club dining room at six-thirty. John Maxson is the chairman of the commissary department, and will have the following helpers: Nick Binz, Fred Harrison, Herman Harms, Jay Maxson, and Luke Pontz.

Indoor sports for the day will consist of games (all kinds) music and entertainment. Ben Berve is the chairman, with William Carpenter, Earl Beyman, Ike Gehant and Emmett Hayes as assistants.

Charles Unger, president of the Chamber of Commerce will head the reception committee, and will be aided by members of the Board of Directors. Harry Ingleson is chairman of the entertainment committee and will be assisted by Vincent Carney, Fred Gardner, Ray VanCura and William Kassul.

The round-up committee is in the capable hands of Hector Caron who will be ably assisted by Vernon Smith, Wm. Halsey, Elmer G. Boltz, Bill Wheeler, Earl Hackett, Leo Rip and Cliff Allen.

ENTERTAINED CLUB.

The Alto Ray 4-H club met at the home of Mrs. Ralph Heath on Tuesday, July 12th. The meeting was opened by songs, sung by the club. After the business meeting a program was given consisting of a reading by Marcella Detig, a talk on alternating patterns by Virginia Herrmann; a clarinet solo by Phyllis Ravanas; a demonstration of manicuring by Mary Jane Koch. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in sewing. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Herrmann on Tuesday, July 19th.

DEL MONTES LEAD.

The Del Montes, who are leading the senior division of the softball league, appeared on the local diamond Friday night in a game with the powerful Barber-Coleman team of Rockford and came out on the long end of the 5-0 score. The Del Montes are undefeated in league play this year.

The curtain-raiser was a game between the Rochelle Boys club and a similar organization from Mt. Morris.

ANNOUNCE CLEANUP.

The postoffice department has designated the week beginning August 1 as "Clean Up Rural Mail Box Week." Postmaster F. J. Tilton announced this week.

ton announced this week. Local carriers will cooperate in the campaign and Postmaster Tilton has issued the following statement to the patrons of the Rochelle rural routes.

"Unserviceable and unsightly rural mail boxes retard the delivery of mail and detract from the appearance of the premises.

"Particularly to be deplored are the non-regulation, old type, top-opening boxes, as well as makeshift receptacles which expose the mail to the weather.

"It is the desire of the department not only to correct the above mentioned unsatisfactory situation but to encourage all rural mail patrons generally to possess pride in their boxes, both in the manner of the erection, neat stenciling, and tidy appearance.

"The carriers out of this office are instructed to co-operate in the efforts of the department in this respect, and past experience makes us confident that the patrons on the routes out of Rochelle will co-operate one hundred per cent.

"It would be a pleasure to be able to report that every box on routes leading out of Rochelle, in tip-top shape at the close of the campaign."

Mr. and Mrs. William Kassul left Sunday for a motor trip of two weeks through Wisconsin, Minnesota and Canada. They were accompanied on the trip by Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Larson. Mr. Larson is manager of the Apollo theatre at Princeton. Robert Fell will manage the Hub theatre in Mr. Kassul's absence.

Misses Jean Schrader and Betsy Tilton left Sunday for Camp Tuckabatchee near Ottawa, where they will spend two weeks.

Mrs. G. E. Anderson, Mrs. Wiley Owens, Mrs. Arthur Tigan, Mrs. C. E. Kepner, Mrs. Joe Askvig, Mrs. Miley Hayes, Mrs. Bill Hayes and Mrs. Franklin Ritchie attended a one o'clock luncheon at Jo Ba Ha near Byron last Thursday.

Friends and neighbors of Fred Bergman sponsored a benefit party and dance for him Wednesday evening, July 13, at Moose hall. Luke Manning's orchestra played. Mr. and Mrs. John O'Neill and daughter, Mary, are on a motor trip through the Black Hills in South Dakota.

ANCIENT GREEK CITY FOUND IN FRANCE

Avignon, France (AP)—The discovery of a 2200-year-old Greek city in Southern France, recently startled French archeologists.

This section of France is dotted with Roman ruins but this is the first intimation that the Greeks, also, had settled there at least two hundred years before Christ.

Excavations which are proceeding under the direction of Jules Fornigie of the French Ministry of Fine Arts showed that life in the ancient city had been luxurious, prosperous and attractive. Many Greek coins which had been minted at nearby Marseilles were also found.

IF YOU DON'T LIVE THERE YOU CAN'T FISH THERE

Green Mountain Falls, Colo.—(AP)—Irrked because tourists and other visiting fishermen kept depleting the trout in a nearby lake, citizens here raised public funds, purchased a big supply of 10-inch trout, placed them in the lake and then hired guards.

Now nobody may fish in the lake except town residents who carry special fishing licenses. And the fishing has improved considerably, the citizens report.

IOWANS DEFEAT BLACK FARMS IN SUNDAY CONTEST

Amboy All-Stars Complete a Bad Night for Local Lads

At no time was Manager Benson of the Black Farms asleep at the Airport diamond last night—but he certainly experienced a whopper of a nightmare when, as self-elected pitcher, he took the mound against the Glasgow Tailors of Clinton, Ia., and allowed 12 free ducks to first. The farm lads pocketed an unpleasant shut-out while the needle and thread youths collected eight tags at home plate.

If Larkin, hurler for the Tailors, was the team's third string pitcher—as was rumored about the grounds last night—it is terrifying to imagine what would have happened if the topnotchers had been worked. Larkin had everything on the ball, giving only one bad aim all night. He worked the corners of the plate like a master and although he gave off 8 hits he permitted only one lonely walk and struck out 15 who faced him.

Top of League

The Clinton ten, during the nine inning game, exhibited just reason for their tie position at the top of the Tri-City league composed of Clinton, Fulton and Lyons. Two of the players, Busk at third and Niles at No. 1, are members of the University of Iowa's varsity football squad. Busk plays quarterback while his hometown is the team's full-back. Both are a couple of husky T-shaped men with plenty of stuff on the ball.

Benson's bad dream was climaxed in the ninth inning in a complete run through the batting order and five walks with six runs coming in. Efforts made by the Black Farms were consistent and they collected hits in all but the first two innings. All were still-borns.

I. N. U. DEFEATED

The moonlight just wouldn't bless the local boys last night, and the I. N. U. lost the curtain-raiser to the Amboy Allstars, 5 to 12.

Halligan sent the pellet across the plate for the Allstars and it was detoured six times by the gas, light and power ten who managed to collect five runs. Barnhart, on the rubber for I. N. U. wasn't in his top form last night and like Benson who followed him, he took some socks to the chin as the Amboyites connected for 11 runs and sauntered to first six times.

Things Go Black

Things went black as a pocket in the first of the third when Amboy staged a first class track meet and romped around the bags for 7 runs. Twelve trips were made to the batter's box before the pop fly out to second base brought the I. N. U. lads in wiping their brows.

Bennie Howard did the calling behind the plate last night while the eagle eye of Bob Reed of Nelson kept tab on goings-on at first. Not permitting the Airport diamond to take a breath and cool off, the city league resumes performance tonight when Medina flips with Plowmans and Kellers tangle with Fulfs.

SECOND TENNIS TEAM HAS GOOD DAY YESTERDAY

Dixon's second tennis team took a jaunt to Rockford yesterday and came home with a well-earned victory of 7-2. Manager Covert sent the lads to the Fellowship Tennis club more for the practice than anything else, and now finds he has more servers worthy of holding first team berths.

In the singles Wieman defeated Korschberg 7-5, 1-6, 6-1; Sinow took the set scores from Wedal of Rockford with 7-5 and 6-1; Kearney won from Lindquist 6-1 and 6-2 and W. Smith defeated his opponent 6-2 and 6-4. Rockford's only wins were in the singles in which Boswell defeated Schuler 6-2 and 7-5 and Hulton took the matches from Rosenberg 6-2 and 6-3.

In the doubles the Dixon team cleaned up when Sinow-Kearney defeated VanSickle and Floberg 7-5, 6-8 and 6-2.

Hooper and Sadtler were conquered by Wieman and Smith to the tune of 6-4, 5-7 and 6-1. The contests were over with the victory of Schuler and Rosenberg who took Johnson and Latohi for the 6-2, 4-6 and 6-4 count. The Rockford lads sent in all fresh players for the doubles.

ROCHELLE HAS BAD DAY WITH PAW PAW NINE

(Telegraph Special Service)
Illinois State Baseball league's schedule took the Paw Paw team to Rochelle yesterday and gave the hosts a drubbing to the merry tune of 10 to 4.

Wind up and deliveries were made by George for the visitors and Rochelle clicked for six hits. Rochelle used two pitchers, Hughes and Myroth, and the Paw Paw team collected 10 hits from their efforts.

KNACKS BITE A CHUNK OUT OF OHIO PLAYERS

Local Team Takes Long End of a 21-1 Score Here Yesterday

The Knacks slaughtered the Ohio team, 21 to 1, yesterday afternoon at Reynolds field. The Knacks made 20 hits to Ohio's 3 and the home lads scored in every inning.

A crowd of 500 watched the game. Henry pitched 7 innings and allowed 3 hits and struck out 12 men. H. Prestegard pitched the last two innings and allowed no hits. Every member of the team made one or more runs. Prestegard, Windmiller, Henry and Bush all had 3 hits apiece. B. Carlson was the only member who failed to hit safely.

The Ohio team, as in the past, was weak at the plate and unable to hit either Henry or Prestegard. Next Sunday the Knacks travel to Maytown to seek revenge for the defeat that Maytown handed them at Reynolds field some weeks ago when they trimmed the local lads 10 to 6.

Practice will be held Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Players of the Knacks team who are going to Rockford for try outs at the St. Louis Cardinals baseball school are Bus Carlson, Earl Flanagan, Dan Lenard, Pat Martin and Lefty Kupper of the Panthers team.

WALTON WINS.

Walton defeated Maytown 8 to 6 at Walton yesterday afternoon in a scheduled game of the Illinois State Baseball league.

MT. MORRIS WINS.

Mt. Morris took a little of the edge off the Black Farm boys at Mt. Morris Friday evening with a hard-to-lose 9-10 defeat.

IZAAC WALTONS.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Van Doren, Miss Mary White and Miss Frances Britz of Dixon left Saturday for a week's fishing trip near Minneapolis and other points in Minnesota. Next week they'll tell about the whoopers that got away. Happy Landing!

RETRIEVER.

"Sparky" Campbell's fox terrier did a little ball chasing out to the Airport the other night. The pup caught some wild ones and ran around the field with the twenty players kicking up their heels in an effort to get the ball and go on with the game.

OREGON COMES THROUGH.

Kellars of the city's soft ball league ran into defeat at the hands of the Oregon ten Friday night and came back to Dixon with a 11-5 defeat. Kellars have won 3 and lost 2 in the city league and will tangle tonight with Fulfs who have the same count. It's even money.

CLIFFY, THE PITCH.

Suede Swanlund pitching for the Marketers Thursday night was a little dismayed at some heavy slugging by the Telegraph in the early innings. But you can't knock Cliffy out of the box and he proved that by zipping them into Murphy's glove past a bewildered Telegraph squad in the wind-up inning.

WHAT'S THE SCORE?

It is impossible for the Telegraph to be represented in all places at one time and your co-operation is asked in an effort to keep tab on all the goings and comings, all the ins and outs. What is happening tonight behind our back? Give the news room a ring tomorrow morning and give us the lowdown.

"APPLE" CRABTREE.

Happy "Apple" Crabtree is saving fair maidens in distress or anyone else getting a mouth full of river water at the Lowell park beach. Apple had things easy the days the river went on a rampage and swimming wasn't much account—but now the calmer waters and hotter days the city's beach is crowded with waders, paddlers, dog-crawlers, Johnny Weissmullers and Gertrude Ederlys. Yoo, hoo, skinny, come on in; the water's fine and last one in is a Flat-foot Floogie.

"BOB ELSON."

Francis Henry, one of Dixon's outstanding athletes, is doing most of the announcing jobs over the public address system at the Airport diamonds these nights. "Hank" reads the commercial plugs like an old hand at the game and slings the softball plays over the mike like a Bob Elson. Hank has his eye on the ball and manages to toss the old pepper into his chatter. Right now he is vacationing from a full schedule at Drake university where he is interested in football and basketball along with classroom lectures. He is a member of the Drake football varsity, playing halfback position.

DETROIT YOUTH HOLDS WESTERN GOLF TOPNOTCH

Stages Rally to Defeat McCarthy 1 Up in Final Yesterday

South Bend, Ind., July 18.—(AP)—Robert Babbish, 23-year-old Detroit University student, held the western amateur golf championship today. After staging a magnificent rally to defeat the seasoned Maurice McCarthy, Cincinnati, 1 up in their 36-hole final yesterday.

Babbish, a smiling brown-haired youngster, achieved the first major victory of his career in conquering McCarthy, former Walker Cup star and national intercollegiate champion.

Babbish, who started playing golf as a caddy 11 years ago, did not get into major competition until last year when he participated in the national open. He was a semi-finalist in the national intercollegiate tournament this year, losing to Johnny Burke of Georgetown University.

Triumph for Youth

Babbish's victory over McCarthy was a triumph for youth and stamina over age and experience. The Detroit youth

Bits of Gossip of Sports Picked Up By AP Writer

BY SID FEDER
(Pitch-hitting for Eddie Brietz)
New York, July 18.—(AP)—Mickey Cochrane is beginning to think there's a touch of Brooklyn in his Tigers. In one game last week, the hit-and-run signal was on three times—and each time the batter never even lifted his bat off his shoulder to take a cut at the pitch. Mickey fished Dixie Walker $25 for missing the sign in Saturday's game. Dixie Dean admits he doesn't shake off Gabby Hartnett's signals any more. Ever since he tried it in last year's All-Star game—and Lou Gehrig whacked a homer on the pitch. Incidentally, how does that four-hitter the Dix tossed yesterday make his lawsuit against the Cardinals look? . . .

Believe it or not, those Daffy Dodgers lead the league in stealing bases. Can it be the Babe Ruth influence? . . . Local writers who went down the bay to meet Helen Jacobs coming home think the "jake" is as good as a sport. She wouldn't hear of saying a thing that even faintly resembled an alibi. The Big League Pitchers' union is going to sue the next guy that says fingers can't hit. 14 of 'em clinched homers this year, including two each by Lefty Lee and Monte Stratton (White Sox), Curt Davis (Cardinals), Spud Chandler (Yankees) and Clay Bryant (Cubs). Mack Alexander, a 230-year-old (joke) is passing up the Chicago Cardinals pro footballers to stick as freshman coach at Hardin-Simmons.

One consolation for Lefty Grove is that he can't yank his teeth out of his sore arm. All of 'em went the last time ole Mose's flipper went bad. Ray Loring the trapshooter's Boswell points out that southpaws may go big in baseball, but they're not so hot in his business. Not one potshooter ever won the Grand American Handicap, the trapshooters' world series, says Ray, but maybe Fred Etchen of Coffeyville, Kan., Herman Peterson of Dillon, Mont., or Spencer Olson of Alton, Ill., may fool the folks this year.

Oscar Vitt says he's benched Moose Solters for keeps, on the grounds of the fellow being fielding like Babe Herman up to Jimmy Braddock's 49th street place went B U S T. Which is tough luck for one of the grander guys.

BUMPER CROP OF TRACK STARS TO STARTLE WORLD

New York, July 18.—(AP)—It doesn't matter much where they hold the Olympics as long as the United States can unleash a bumper crop of young runners, heavers and jumpers on a startled world two years come August.

The indications of the new crop were never plainer than yesterday afternoon at Randall's Island when a group of youngsters headed by feather-footed Harley Howells of Ohio State and stout-hearted Walter Mehl of Wisconsin took over the ancient order of Hibernians track and field games.

Except for the mile, which Archie San Romani won in 4:12.4, the youngsters dominated the meet. Bill Watson, the big Michigan Negro, and Herbert Thompson of the Pioneer A. C. were the only record breakers but by any other standards the boys did pretty well for themselves.

Thompson cracked Charlie Padock's 17-year-old American record of 142 for 150 yards with 14.1 in the second heat but then lost out to another fine young sprinter, Clyde Jeffrey of Riverside (Calif.) Junior college. Jeffrey, incidentally, won the final in 13.9 but the record was disallowed because of a favoring wind.

Watson, runner-up to Frank Ryan of Columbia in the medley shotput, hurled the eight-pound ball 70 feet 1-4 inches for another new American record. It was the only outstanding field performance.

DAPPER RUNYAN TAKES VICTORY IN HIS STRIDE

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Paul Runyan, a dapper little champion who takes everything in stride, today had turned from the excitement of winning his second national P. G. A. title to the routine of his task as pro at the Metropolitan Country club in suburban White Plains, N. Y.

Nothing disturbed the former Arkansas caddy on the way to his first tournament victory of the year—neither the Shawnee country club course, nor the heat of the Delaware river valley, nor the fact he went into his title round match with Sam Snead, a 2-1 underdog. He whipped them all, and the odds most decisively, for his margin of 8 and 7 over Snead was the most one-sided ever scored in 21-P. G. A. final matches.

Runyan's performance in adding the 1938 title to the crown he won in 1934 with a 38-hole decision over Craig Wood was a climatic display of the consistency which had enabled him to hold seventh place among the year's money-winners despite the fact he hadn't won a single tournament.

He set a record for all the boys to shoot at by playing his last 71 holes in the tournament in 52 pars, 18 birdies and only one bogey.

Snead, still the country's No. 1 money-winner despite his defeat, also still looks like the best bet whenever the boys tee off in their next major tournament. He has been runner-up in two of the four national championships he's played in, and Runyan would be one of the first to admit that the big boy will crash through some day—probably soon.

HELEN JACOBS IS BACK HOME; HAS NO ALIBIS

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Helen Jacobs, who saw a great "comeback go wrong at Wimbledon when she successfully fought off the effects of a shoulder injury and lack of practice in the early rounds of the All-England tennis championships only to get hurt again in the final match against Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, is back in America.

For the reporters who went down the bay to meet her ship yesterday she had these things to say:

(1) She has no criticism to make of Mrs. Moody's action in playing out the match without suggesting a rest.

(2) She hopes to get a lot of work done on a new novel during her convalescence.

(3) It will take two or three weeks for her to recover from the injury to an ankle tendon and then she hopes to play in the Essex Club tournament and the National championships.

(4) She thinks Don Budge is playing better tennis than ever.

(5) She has no criticism of Mrs. Moody.

The interview developed into a "sparring" match between the reporters, who hoped to hear some steaming remarks about the match which drew a lot of criticism from English tennis commentators and spectators, and Miss Jacobs, who didn't want to make them. Miss Jacobs placed her shots better.

"I have no 'blasts,' if that is what you are looking for," she replied smilingly to the first volley of questions.

"I'll be very happy to get back playing tennis," she said when they asked if she'd like "another crack" at Mrs. Moody.

Rug Dealer Shot; Rival Dealer Held

Chicago, July 18.—(AP)—Edward Tager, 35, a rug dealer, was near death today from a bullet wound below his heart inflicted last night as he stood on the sidewalk in front of the hotel in which he lives.

Police had in custody another rug merchant, Edward Rothman, whom they said was identified by an 11-year-old girl as the man who shot Tager.

The child, Christine Lund, told Police Captain John O'Brien the shooting had followed Rothman's demand that Tager pay him $300.

Rothman was detained after he was subdued by two youths who said they saw him flee from the scene of the shooting. He denied he had shot Tager.

BARGAINS WITH STUDENTS.

Omaha, Neb.—(AP)—It seemed perfectly logical in this day of labor bargaining that Dr. W. H. Thompson, psychology professor at the University of Omaha, agreed to "bargain collectively" with his students. Their plea was for postponement of a mid-term examination.

Dr. Thompson set the day on which he would meet the students' agents.

SNAKES
DO NOT ALWAYS TRAVEL IN ZIG-ZAG FASHION. WHEN CRAWLING SLOWLY, THEY PROGRESS IN A PERFECTLY STRAIGHT LINE.

ABOUT 2,500,000 BUFFALOES WERE KILLED ANNUALLY BETWEEN THE YEARS 1870 AND 1875.

IN BASEBALL, "TEXAS LEAGUER" SINGLES ARE KNOWN ALSO AS HUMPBACK LINERS, BANJO-HITS, DROOPERS, PLUNKERS, LEAPING LENAS, AND JAPANESE LINERS.

WHEN crawling slowly, a snake may progress in a straight line by bringing forward the broad plates of the abdomen and then pulling them back again. The reptile actually walks upon these plates. But when frightened, snakes travel swiftly along in a series of lateral undulations.

MICKY ROONEY'S ESCORTS
DEPRIVED OF SIREN
Omaha, Neb. — (AP) — Mickey Rooney, youthful screen actor, failed to make a hit with Police Commissioner Jepsen.

The commissioner ordered removed the siren attached to a police car used to transport Mickey about the city. He said he received a flood of complaints that the car had sped past stop lights with siren screaming. "The job of the police department is to protect, not to entertain people," he said.

Approximately one quarter of the nation's total population is enrolled in schools and colleges.
